Mendes-France, arriving from the fruitless EDC parley in Brussels, reportedly carried to Churchill the outline of some alternate plan of European defense in which Britain would play a major role. Mendes-France Hit by Demands

Paris, Aug. 24 (P)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France wrestled anew with the European army crisis today as a cross fire of demands mounted in his own country for acceptance or rejection of the controversial six-nation defense treaty.

Mendes-France flew back to meet his cabinet today after a hurried conference in Britain yesterday with British Prime Minister Churchill.

The premier reported last night to French President Rene

Coty at the Normandy resort of Bagnole de L'Orne, filling the president in on his secret talk with Churchill and his failure at the six-nation Brussels conference to get approval of the sweeping revisions he demanded in the European Defense Community (EDC) pact.

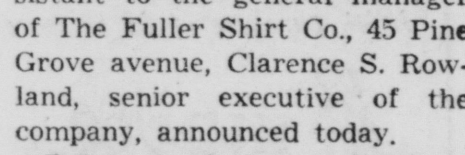

If Churchill and Mendes-France decided upon any alternative to EDC during their talk yesterday, it was top secret. Following the four-hour meeting at Chartwell, Churchill's country home outside London, they announced only that they had agreed to "early and practical steps" to maintain western unity.

Official sources disclosed the two leaders reviewed all possible alternatives for rearming West Germany and restoring full sovereignty to the Bonn Government if EDC fails.

Facing Mendes-France was the grave decision on whether to try for another new set of modifications in the EDC treaty or let the French National Assembly begin a ratification debate, scheduled for Saturday, on the pact as it stands.

The premier himself had in-

Well Holds $1,206

Detroit, Aug. 24 (P)—Workmen cleaned out a wishing well at the Detroit Institute of Arts yesterday and found $1,206.07 in small change. The well was placed in the lobby several years ago when institute officials sought to discourage visitors from tossing pennies in a fountain exhibit. The pennies clogged the fountain and resulted in high repair bills. The money will be used to purchase new exhibits for the museum.

$6 Average Hike Due In October Security Checks More for Retired

Washington, Aug. 24 (P)—Social Security Administration officials said today some 6½ million beneficiaries automatically will get increases in their September checks after President Eisenhower signs the bill to expand the program.

September checks will be delivered about Oct. 4. Each retired worker covered by the program will get a boost of at least $5 a month. Those getting the present maximum of $85 monthly will get $98.50. Those getting the $25 minimum will get $30. The increases will average about $6 a month.

The same minimum increase of at least $5 monthly will apply to each family unit, whether it consists of a lone survivor or several persons. The minimum for a lone survivor will become $30 monthly, instead of $18.80, but where the present benefit is $30 monthly it will be increased only to $33.80.

Other beneficiaries now on the rolls will receive generally proportionate increases based on the wage record of the retired or deceased worker, but there will be a few exceptions.

The officials told a newsman each recipient of an August check, due to be delivered next week, will be informed by an enclosure that he or she need do nothing to get the increased benefits.

THE BILL ALSO will extend old age and survivors insurance to another 10 million people, effective next Jan. 1.

Lowe Fined $25 on Plea In Margaret Gordon Case

Raymond Lowe, 50, of 212 Hasbrouck avenue, who was arrested July 1 on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, pleaded guilty through consent of all concerned to a charge of reckless driving before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

The judge directed that he pay a fine of $25 or spend 25 days in jail. The fine was paid.

LOWE WAS arrested July 1 by Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons about two hours after Margaret Gordon, 23, of 60 Cedar street, was found seriously injured along a Devil's Lake road. It was charged that she had been riding in a truck of the E. T. McGill Corp., 535-37 Broadway, and that she was left along the road after having been injured.

Authorities reported that she was in a state of shock upon arrival at Kingston Hospital where she was treated for multiple fractures of the ribs, a fracture of the left shoulder blade, multiple contusions and abrasions.

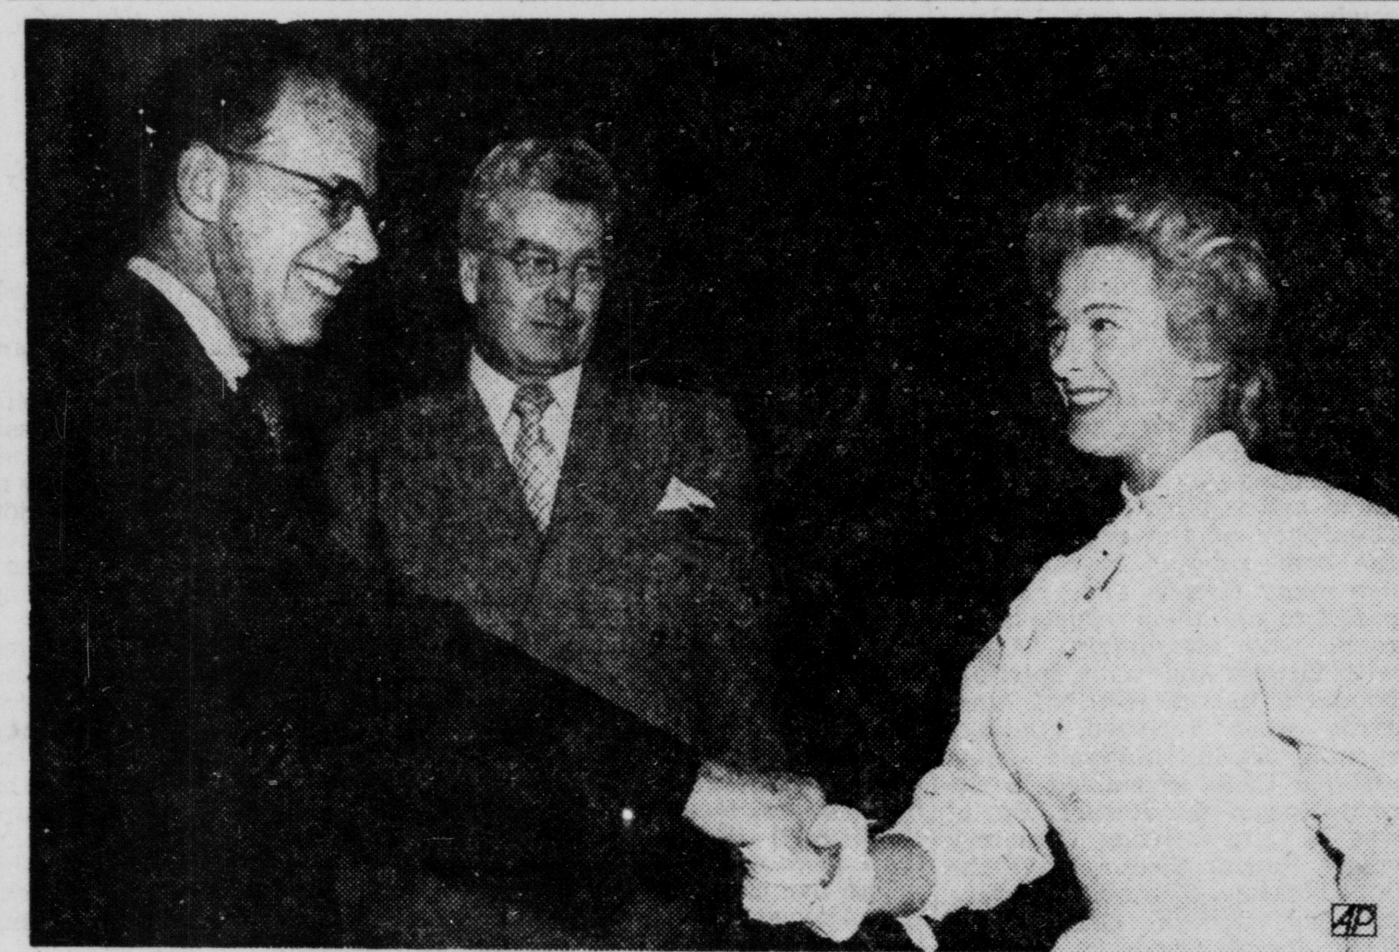

IT WAS CHARGED that Lowe had operated the truck "in a culpably negligent manner by allowing said truck to roll back over the person of one Margaret Gordon, 60 Cedar street, a passenger in said truck, who had jumped out."

The defendant was represented by Attorney William A. Kaercher, Elmor H. Nathan appeared for Margaret Gordon and Louis DiDonna for the district attorney's office. Nathan indicated the woman did not wish to press the original charge of leaving the scene of an accident and DiDonna consented for the district attorney's office, to the charge.

'Madame X' Tells About Atrocities

New York, Aug. 24 (P)—A woman described only as "Madame X" and partially concealed behind a screen testified today at a congressional hearing on alleged Communist atrocities in Hungary.

From an ante-room, she walked to a seat behind a screen, five feet six inches high, resting on two tables in a federal courthouse room where the House Committee on Communist aggression is conducting its probe.

ONLY PARTLY visible, she appeared slender. She wore a gray dress, black shoes and a gold ring. She nervously clenched and unclenched her hands before being sworn in by Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.), committee chairman.

A microphone was set up to carry to an audience of about 40 persons her story of atrocities allegedly committed against her. Msgr. Bela Varga, Roman Catholic clergyman and once speaker of the Hungarian Parliament, told the committee yesterday anti-Communist feeling in Hungary is strong and that "the best friends of freedom are behind the Iron Curtain."

President to Sign Anti-Red Bill

Denver, Aug. 24 (P)—President Eisenhower today signed legislation outlawing the Communist party.

Denver, Aug. 24 (P)—President Eisenhower today signs into law history-making legislation outlawing the Communist party and cracking down on Red-infiltrated labor unions.

The President's decision to approve the bill, with its outlawing provisions for which the administration did not ask, was announced by Press Secretary James C. Hagerty at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here.

HAGERTY SAID the Chief Executive would issue a statement on the measure when he (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 24 (P)—Brazil's old iron man, Getulio Vargas, sent a bullet through his heart and died in his palace today after 58 generals forced him to quit as president.

"To the wrath of my enemies I leave the legacy of my death," said a note left by the 71-year-old chief of the world's largest country.

"I TAKE the sorrow of not being able to give to the humble all that I wished."

Vargas stepped down from the presidency at dawn and shot himself at 8:41 a. m. (6:41 a. m. EST) in his quarters at Catete Palace, the Brazilian White House. Gen. Caetano de Castro, chief of his military staff, was with him. Police said Vargas suddenly whipped a pistol from his pocket and shot, dying almost immediately.

He thus fulfilled a promise he had made Sunday night—that he would leave office only under arrest or death. That was after 26 general officers of the air force asked him to resign to calm a tense political and military situation. Today 32 general officers of the army joined in the demand for Vargas' ouster.

THE ARMY OFFICERS' petition was presented to Vargas this morning at Catete Palace. It was announced the president, who came to power in 1930 and ruled all but five years since then, had agreed to ask Congress for a leave of absence. Four hours later he was dead.

Joao Cafe Filho, vice president since 1951, was in line to succeed Vargas.

The crisis that brought Vargas' ouster and death began Aug. 5 with the slaying of an air force major, Ruben Vaz, during an attempt to assassinate Carlos Lacerda, an anti-Vargas editor. The slaying aroused widespread indignation in both the military and the press. This grew when it was discovered that members of Vargas' personal body guard were involved. Vargas dissolved the guard.

THE CRISIS broke into rioting Aug. 11 following a Mass for Maj. Vaz. Two persons were injured and campaign posters for Vargas' Brazilian Labor party (PTB) were torn down.

"Vargas out!" shouted the mob.

Fork Wound Kills Man; Starts Probe

The death Monday noon of a 54-year-old Ellenville man of a wound inflicted by a table fork touched off an investigation by Ellenville police and the district attorney's office.

Roy Hook, 54, of 11-Rear, Chapel street, Ellenville, died at Veterans Memorial Hospital in Ellenville, of a wound he received Saturday afternoon at his home, police said.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John ordered an autopsy performed Monday afternoon by Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the Kingston city laboratory.

The autopsy disclosed that Hook died of a puncture of the lung caused by a table fork, District Attorney St. John said.

Questioning of Hook's wife, Catherine, a dancing school instructor, brought to light this version of how the wound was inflicted, the district attorney said.

The couple became involved in an argument at their home, during which Hook slapped her, she pushed him and he stumbled and fell on the fork. No arrest has been made, but the case is still under investigation by Ellenville police and County Investigator Arthur H. Brown.

Dulles Says Justification Exists to Defend Formosa

Washington, Aug. 24 (P)—Secretary of State Dulles said today American forces would be justified in defending some Nationalist-held islands between Formosa and the Chinese mainland from any Communist attack.

Dulles told a news conference it would be up to American military leaders to decide which islands in addition to Formosa they want to defend as part of their overall strategy for aiding the Chinese Nationalist stronghold.

Dulles spoke up in the face of talk by Peiping of "liberating" the island of Formosa, now held by Chiang Kai-shek and the Chinese Nationalists. U. S. leaders have been inclined to discount the Peiping talk.

President Eisenhower already is on record as saying the U. S. 7th Fleet would protect Formosa from a Red attack. Dulles appeared to be extending this line of reasoning by including some of the smaller Chiang-held islands near Formosa.

In talking about Europe, Dulles told newsmen he deeply regrets France's unwillingness to agree with five other western European countries on the European army plan. But he said he was not giving up hope France will ratify the European army agreement when "it confronts the ultimate decision."

Is Cheerful On Security Of Europe

Thinks Statesmen Also Desire Peace

Denver, Aug. 24 (P)—President Eisenhower told the nation's voters last night the Republican 83rd Congress chalked up a fine record toward assuring a stronger, better America. He urged them to remember that when they go to the polls in the November congressional elections.

In a nationwide radio and television address, the President sounded an optimistic note about the security of western Europe in the face of collapse of European Defense Army talks at Brussels.

"Don't be too discouraged," the Chief Executive told his coast-to-coast audience. He said the great statesmen of Europe are his friends and "they want peace as much as you and I do." He added:

"THEY ARE NOT licked yet. And we are certainly not licked. Let us not lose faith in them. There is still something to be done in that region, and we are going to do it."

The rest of Eisenhower's half-hour address was exclusively a plug for his administration and the record of the GOP-run Congress which wound up its legislative chores last Friday.

The President, vacationing here, spoke from a Denver TV studio. He talked from notes on cue cards in front of the cameras, stood in front of a desk on which he leaned part of the time, and occasionally he drove his left fist into his right hand to emphasize points. He was flanked by the American flag and the presidential banner.

HIS WARM praise for the GOP-controlled Congress—in which Republicans held only a slim majority over Democrats—dealt with enacted legislation which he said would, for example, cut taxes by nearly 7½ billion dollars, expand Social Security coverage and increase benefits, shift present rigid farm price supports to a system of flexible crops, and provide new weapons to help defeat communism and subversion at home.

In his speech, the President did not say whether he would approve a bill—passed during the closing hours of Congress—to outlaw the Communist party in the United States. The administration had objected to the measure on the grounds it might not prove effective.

But the summer White House announced later that Eisenhower planned to put his signature to the bill today. It also would crack down on Red-infiltrated unions.

THE PRESIDENT'S speech reporting on the record of the 83rd Congress came as Republicans are stepping up their campaign to maintain control of the Senate and House in the fall elections.

Eisenhower made no call in so many words for maintenance and tightening of GOP control, as he did last Thursday in a speech at the Illinois State Fair. But he did say this to the voters last night:

"If we are going ahead with this (administration) program, if you want it to go ahead, the decisions are largely up to you. Because it is the character of the 84th Congress that will determine: Can we go ahead and push through all these programs for the benefit of America? Or will they be stopped by some kind of political arguments?"

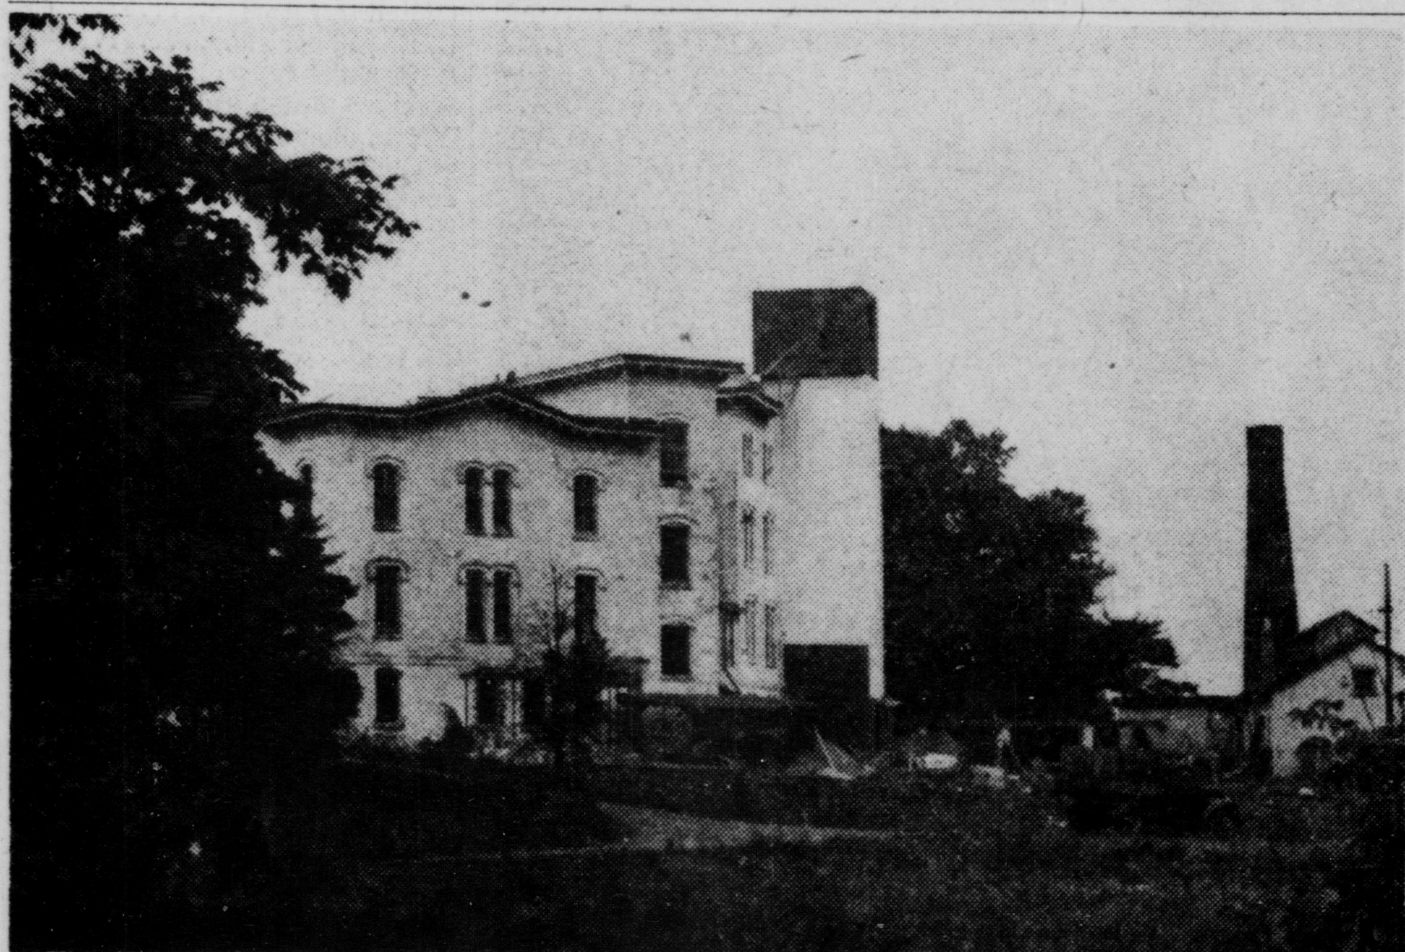

"WE WANT to go ahead. We are sure that you want us to go ahead. All my mail shows exactly that; that you, with us, are looking forward to peace abroad, greater security, and greater and greater prosperity at home."

He said the White House went to bat 64 times in Congress in behalf of enactment of (Continued on Page 17, Col. 5)

Late Bulletin

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—A woman identified only as "Madame X," testifying from behind a screen, collapsed today after telling a congressional committee how seven Russian soldiers ravished her in Hungary.

The woman, describing herself as Austrian-born, testified for about 35 minutes in excellent English before the House Committee on Communist Aggression, which is compiling reports on Red atrocities.

Then, as she finished her story of brutality, she crumpled into the arms of her husband, standing directly in back of her in an anteroom doorway.

Reporters who caught a brief glimpse of her saw that she was a short, slender brunette, who appeared to be in her 30's. She wore a gray-green print dress, black pumps and dark sunglasses.

Old Smoke-Eater

Dover, N. H. (AP)—This city of 15,800 thinks it has the oldest active firefighter in the nation. And in his 59 years on the department, 81-year-old Joseph Heene recalls he missed only one bell alarm of the some 2,000 sounded during those years. A case of pneumonia a few years back caused him to break his record. Recalling his narrowest brush with death, Heene said he and three other firefighters entered a basement during a 1933 fire. Without warning an upper floor collapsed, blocking their exit. Just as the quartet was about to give up hope of escape, a gas explosion blew them off their feet. When they regained consciousness, all four were sprawled in the street outside, injured, but not seriously, by the blast.

Five Categories of Charges Given for Mc C Hearings

Washington, Aug. 24 (AP)—A special Senate committee today announced five categories of charges on which it will start public hearings next Tuesday on the question of whether the Senate should censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the Bipartisan six member committee, said the charges seem to be "the most important" of 46 filed by three senators who have urged that McCarthy's conduct be officially condemned.

HE EMPHASIZED, however, that these did not preclude the committee from considering all the charges during the course of the public hearings, which will start Aug. 31, one day later than previously scheduled.

The five categories include: 1. Alleged "incident of contempt of the Senate or a senatorial committee" by McCarthy, entering largely around his failure to testify before a Senate Elections subcommittee investigating his finances in 1950. 2. "Incidents of encouragement of United States employees to violate the law and their oaths of office or executive orders" in McCarthy's appeal to federal employees to give him classified information about alleged Communists or subversives.

3. "Incidents involving receipt or use of confidential or classified documents or other confidential information, from executive files," in connection with his receipt of a purported summary of an FBI espionage report in the McCarthy-Army hearings.

4. Incidents involving alleged "abuses" of other senators. Under this heading, the committee referred to attacks McCarthy leveled at Sen. Hendrickson (R-N. J.) and other members of the Senate subcommittee that investigated his financial affairs.

5. The charge that McCarthy abused Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, commanding officer at Camp Kilmer, N. J. McCarthy's questioning of Zwicker last February brought a vigorous protest from Army Secretary Stevens and was one of the incidents that touched off the televised McCarthy-Army hearings.

GHOSTLY HOAX—A guy can't even dig a hole, what with the practical jokers. Harold Denney, restaurant owner in Columbus, Ohio, made an excavation out front preparing to install a cooling system. When he arrived at work the next morning he found the heap of dirt decorated with dummy feet protruding, a cross and flowers on top.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—The stock market sagged quietly today with most divisions depressed in the early afternoon.

Because of the moderate volume of business, no pressures developed in any area. The pace was around two million shares. Losses in some instances went to between 1 and 2 points. However, most were small. Gainers were not spectacular by any means.

Aircraft, which were buoyant yesterday, were neglected today and largely lower.

Steels slumped, and other major divisions losing ground included railroads, oils, coppers, chemicals, and utilities. Others were mixed to steady.

Montgomery Ward, up 5 points yesterday on proxy rumors, dropped away today a point after opening of 3,000 shares off 1/2 at 78 1/2.

President to Sign Lab's Report Is Still Awaited

signed it. (Time uncertain). Administration doubts about the bill—revised before it passed to whether it would make "propaganda martyrs" of Reds in this country and drive them farther underground.

The bill overshoot the administration's mark on anti-Red legislation when an election bound Congress enthusiastically passed it on the last day before adjournment.

It was an unexpected offshoot of a bill, requested by the administration, to strip Communist infiltrated unions of rights before the National Labor Relations Board.

The double-barreled measure passed the Senate 79-0 and the House 265-2.

REPUBLICAN congressional leaders succeeded only in the closing hours of the session in removing a Democratic-sponsored provision which would have made individual Communist party membership a crime punishable by imprisonment for five years and a $10,000 fine.

The party membership provision was killed in a Senate-House conference after leaders cautioned that the bill, in unaltered form, would be vetoed by Eisenhower.

The measure finally passed by Congress provides that the Communist party shall be denied legal rights available to all other political parties.

INSTEAD OF making individual party membership illegal, the bill provides that a member of any organization found to be a Communist action group is subject to the penalties of the Internal Security Act.

The section of the bill aimed at cracking down on Communist-dominated labor unions is based on the Taft-Hartley labor law and the Subversive Activities Control Act.

It provides that the attorney general may seek a determination by the Subversive Activities Control Board whether a union is Communist infiltrated.

IF THE FINDING is in the affirmative, the union thereupon loses its benefits and privileges under the Labor-Management Relations Act—such as collective bargaining rights and use of the facilities of the National Labor Relations Board.

The Communist-outlaw bill is the second of four major anti-Red bills to be signed by the President.

Before coming to Denver Eisenhower approved a bill giving congressional or court witnesses immunity from persecution under certain conditions. The measure thereby deprives them of the sanctuary of the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution.

Still awaiting presidential action are bills revoking the nationality of any U. S. citizen convicted of seeking forcible overthrow of the government, and making peacetime espionage a capital offense.

Lab's Report Is Still Awaited

State police today were still awaiting the report of the laboratory examination of fragments picked up on Route 32 near the Ulster-Greene county line after an explosion lighted up the area there late Sunday night.

Ernest Miller of Saugerties told troopers a "shiny tin can" exploded and illuminated the countryside after he had driven about 500 feet beyond the object, which was in the middle of the highway.

TROOPERS SAID the explosion as described by Miller was apparently similar to one that might be caused by a phosphorus bomb. It has also been suggested that the object may have been an aerial flash bomb such as used for night photography from the air.

The blast apparently caused no damage, except for leaving the imprint of the can on the macadam highway.

Infirmiry Is ...

day. Men interested in maintenance jobs are also sought.

ALL COUNTY employees come under Civil Service provisions, but nurses are in the non-competitive class, while most other employees will be in the exempt class, Murray said, explaining that this means that those selected will not be required to take Civil Service competitive examinations.

Salary schedules are being worked out by a committee from the Board of Supervisors along with the welfare commissioner. Money for operating the infirmary and paying salaries will be provided by an appropriation by the Board of Supervisors.

Commissioner Murray emphasized that the placing of the infirmary into operation will be a gradual process, with only as many patients admitted as can be cared for as the institution gets into full swing. Present welfare department clients will be the first admitted and will be selected according to physical condition. Later, perhaps by next summer, there may be openings for persons able to pay for their own care, to bring the infirmary up to its 96-patient capacity.

AP Corrects Aug. 17 Story On Utility Rate Increases

On Aug. 17 the AP supplied afternoon papers a story about the annual report of the state Public Service Commission which carried a lead saying the PSC had indicated it might have to grant further rate increases. The lead was not justified by context of the annual report and a substitute introduction was moved later in the morning.

Most papers used the substitute lead, saying the PSC reported mounting operating costs have forced the granting of rate increases to utilities.

Albany, Aug. 24 (AP) — A spokesman for the New York Public Service Commission says it has resisted the shocks and strains of the inflationary times insofar as utilities are concerned, and has succeeded in holding the cost of utility services within reasonable bounds.

THE FULL text of today's statement:

"In its annual report for 1953 to Gov. Dewey and the Legislature, the PSC announced that despite the heavy inflationary pressure of recent years, it has held utility rate increases last year to the smallest annual total since 1946. The PSC report in commenting on the rate increases said that it has often warned that the cost of plant, equipment, material and labor cannot be continually increased without seriously affecting rates for utility services. Constantly mounting taxes upon the utilities have added greatly to the burden."

"This comment referred to 1953 and prior years, as an examination of the report will show."

"The comment was inadvertently misinterpreted in an Associated Press story to mean that the commission indicated it might have to grant further increases in 1954 and future years to offset mounting costs of operation."

"THE PSC gave no such indication either in the report or elsewhere. The PSC said in its report that it has resisted the shocks and strains of the inflationary times insofar as utilities are concerned and has succeeded in holding the cost of utility services within reasonable bounds."

"The PSC wishes to reaffirm its position because the misinterpretation of the report has led some people to believe that the report constituted an invitation to the utilities to ask for further rate increases. That is not a fact. Only within recent weeks the commission refused to grant the New York Telephone Co., an increase of 69 million dollars a year and last week, after negotiations with a utility in the western part of the state, it has brought about a substantial reduction in gas rates."

"The commission will deal with applications for rate increases in 1954 and future years as it has done in the past. It will continue to reject the demands of the utilities wherever they are found unjustified and will order reductions whenever it finds a utility's charges for service to be excessive."

Good Fall Business Held Brighter; Some Are Not Sure

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Hope for good fall business burns bright. But many businessmen will be privately a little nervous about it until the next few weeks are past. Signs of an upturn aren't too convincing yet. The year-long recession appears to have been halted. But some of the usual August signals—bank loans and steel output—aren't flashing an advance as they should.

IF AN UPSWING comes after Labor Day, industry's adjustment to peacetime could safely be placed in the past-history files. But if trade and output don't make the usual show of strength as the days shorten, businessmen will take another look at their plans and expectations.

They're mostly playing it cautiously now. Bank loans to business should be increasing in August as retailers stock up for fall trade and wholesalers order for Christmas. This August businessmen are staying away from the banks.

FACTORIES report merchants slow in ordering. Retailers explain that they can get deliveries of most things very quickly now and see no reason to take a chance.

Merchants usually do 40 per cent of the year's business in the last four months. So far in 1954 trade has been running slightly behind a year ago. Basing their hopes on a pick-up next month, many merchants have been predicting that the final score this year will approximate last year's.

CONSUMER INCOME stays high. What was lost by factory layoffs and the drop in overtime pay was pretty much regained through tax cuts, Social Security payments, and increased dividend and interest payments. (This holds true for the nation as a whole—it is not the case in many specific communities where layoffs have been concentrated.) With total personal income high, merchants feel their customers can buy, if they like.

Industrial output didn't change from May through July. But the Federal Reserve Board notes that in two important fields, autos and steel, output "fell by more than the seasonal amount in July."

And one steel executive isn't over-optimistic. E. T. Weir, chairman of National Steel, sees no signs at this time that steel output will pick up in September. He thinks the last three months of the year, however, should see some improvement.

AUTO MODEL change-overs, coming early this year and taking longer, are holding down production in that big steel consuming industry. Railroad freight car orders are another weak point. The backlog of cars on order now is only about a fourth of what it was a year ago.

The building industry goes humming right along. More houses have been started so far this year than last. Some expect easier financing to keep that boom going.

A little cold war, however, is dashed by a committee of the U. S. Savings and Loan League, which finances much home building. It says "the adjustment has not yet run its course" and predicts "a sideways to moderately downward drift in the general level of business activity during the remainder of the year."

There are bright spots. Shipbuilding is getting a nudge from government spending. Aircraft makers have big backlogs of military orders. Machinery orders have increased since May. The general economy looks sound enough for the long haul. As for the short pull, the next few weeks should give the tip-off on which way we'll be heading.

QUALITY VS. QUANTITY

Gen. Carl (Tooye) Spaatz, former Air Force chief of staff and now a Newsweek magazine editor, says the Russian air force has lunged ahead of ours in number, but that the disparity in size is not yet critical for us.

According to Spaatz, Russia now has 20,000 first-line planes against our 12,500. But, luckily for the United States, these figures don't tell the full story.

The general says we are still superior in the air for the following reasons:

We have great technical advantage in the waging of strategic warfare, due to our vast experience in World War II and to our improved training and operational practices developed since then.

We have a bigger stockpile of air-borne atomic weapons.

We have more and better-situated air bases for intercontinental operations.

Both because of the inherent performance characteristics of our aircraft and because of new air refueling techniques, we have a marked advantage in flying range.

Spaatz believes that if war came while we were in our present relative numerical position with the Soviet air force, a high percentage of American planes would get through to Russian targets but a relatively small share of Russian planes would be successful in missions against America.

Perhaps not all our aviation experts would be as optimistic, but it is admittedly heartening to have a man of Spaatz' stature voice this confidence.

He does not mean, however, to lull us into complacency. Soviet capability in intercontinental strategic warfare is increasing, he says, and with that improvement Russia's numerical advantage in planes will become steadily more critical for America.

If their capabilities should ever rise to equal ours, then air power as a war deterrent would depend strictly on numerical superiority, in Spaatz' view. Consequently, he feels we must match the Soviet advances with further technical gains of our own, and at the same time must boost our plane numbers substantially.

Obviously, if this is an acceptable analysis (and non-experts are not well placed to assail it), we cannot talk much economy in Air Force expenditures so long as the Soviet Union goes on enlarging its air arm and developing improved understanding of strategic warfare.

Evidently it is not safe to ride forever on the idea that we can get along with fewer and better planes. When the enemy nearly matches you technically, as Russia some day might do, then numbers count.

MARCH OF DIMES

An emergency March of Dimes is underway. Funds from the last drive have been exhausted and a great deal of work remains to be done, a great many victims must be helped.

Polio is no longer a disease which leaves a victim without hope. There is treatment. The reason that there is, is because of research done and techniques developed with funds from voluntary contributions from millions of people. People open their hearts when the March of Dimes begins because they have seen the progress made in the fight against polio.

Give to the emergency March of Dimes. Give as generously as you can. Your contribution can mean the difference between hope and despair, between a useful life and an empty one, for a victim of polio.

There's a good side in everything, even in traffic jams. When cars are tangled all around you and it seems as if you'll never get where you're going, take it easy with some comforting thought for a moment. 'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

HERBERT HOOVER, JR.

When Herbert Hoover was President of the United States, he kept his family out of public life as much as possible. His two sons had become accustomed to their father's public activities since the days in London when he assumed the responsibility for the Belgian relief. When Mr. Hoover became President, he and Mrs. Hoover were intent that the boys should not be absorbed by the limelight of publicity which can be so devastating to young people.

This was carried to such a point that when young Herbert sought his first job, he assumed another name, hoping that he would be hired for his own sake and not because he was a son of the President of the United States.

Neither he nor his brother Allan ever became associated with their father's activities although the Hoovers are very close as a family. Herbert Hoover, Jr., went his own way into mining and electronics and has been extraordinarily successful in both fields. He has been a partner in a number of enterprises, usually taking the top managerial position.

The Hoovers have always been an affectionate family and while the sons resented the abuse of their father in the years before his restored popularity, they remained aloof from public life and out of politics. Both sons have engaged in business in this country and in Central American countries. Herbert Hoover, Jr.'s mine instrument business took him to many countries in Europe, Asia and South America. He has had a working knowledge of the operations of our foreign policy and he has known many of the men in the field who have to carry out day-by-day operations.

His first public job was in connection with Iranian oil, as an adviser to the Secretary of State. His task required the most delicate negotiation among many governments, particularly between Great Britain and Iran.

It will be recalled that in 1951, Iran nationalized the properties of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company in a fit of violent nationalism stimulated by the Prime Minister, Mossadegh. The British were virtually expelled from the country and the business was shut down. Mossadegh thought that he could operate the business; that the world would have to take his oil or suffer a shortage; it was soon evident that the oil of other countries not only could fill the demand but that the world market was glutted. Iranian oil was dead, unless Soviet Russia either bought the oil or conquered the country and took it.

Many oil men in the United States and other countries tried to find a formula for a compromise between Great Britain and Iran but failed. Then Herbert Hoover, Jr., was asked by the State Department to undertake the task. For a year, he commuted between Teheran, London and Washington until he found a middle-ground which could be acceptable to the Iranian Government, the British Government, and which oil companies could join in supporting.

A consortium of the Iranian Government and American, British and Dutch companies was established which will operate the Iranian company; a market for Iranian oil will be established by the other companies producing sufficiently less oil to make room for Iran; the Iranian Government will receive nearly 10 times as much revenue as it got when the British operated the business. Iranian sovereignty is unimpaired; British prestige is not damaged anew.

This has been one of the most constructive jobs in recent years and has won Herbert Hoover, Jr., great acclaim. Because of its success, he was asked to take General Walter Bedell Smith's job as Under Secretary of State. Hoover was reluctant to leave engineering and private life but he accepted the job because it was one of the most difficult tasks in the troubled times and at the seat of most of the trouble.

Not new to Washington or without knowledge of the nature of intrigue and empire-building in the State Department, he is likely to prove a fairly tough taskmaster and to be antagonistic to Left Wing groups, particularly Communists in the Department. I have known him for many years and can attest to a toughness of mind that goes to the center of a problem and having reached a decision, fights for what he believes to be right without fear of failure. It will be interesting to see how that works out in the State Department.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PENICILLIN SENSITIVITY

With the widespread use of penicillin, reports of sensitivity reactions to this drug are becoming alarmingly numerous. The percentage of people reacting to this drug has been found to vary from 2 to 10 per cent. While many of the reactions are mild and need cause little concern to the patient or physician at the time, except for the difficulty of knowing whether it will be safe to give the drug in the future, there are also many of a more serious nature and sometimes fatal.

The forms this reaction may take are many and may include practically any type of skin eruption, particularly hives, sore mouth, inflammation of the lips, eyes, and eyelids, asthma, convulsions, blood in the urine, to name only a few. Penicillin sensitivity has been found rare in children, more common in adults.

In an effort to try to find out in advance which persons will be sensitive to penicillin, skin tests were tried but unfortunately it was found that although these tests were reliable in some cases, in many others they were not. That is a person might have a negative skin test to penicillin but then react very strongly when given the drug.

What can we do to avoid these penicillin reactions? Among the suggestions given in the Canadian Medical Association Journal by Drs. C. Collins Williams and J. E. Vincent, Toronto, are:

1. Penicillin should be used only when it is definitely required, as in streptococcal infection or bacterial pneumonia, and not be used for minor infections which can be treated satisfactorily by other drugs.
2. Penicillin lozenges should be used only rarely as infections which respond to them are usually mild and can be treated by other means.
3. Penicillin should not be applied locally, especially to inflamed skin.
4. Penicillin should be taken by mouth and not by injection whenever possible. Sometimes, of course, this is not possible such as in a severe illness where a large amount of the drug is required immediately, or when there is vomiting or refusal on the part of the patient to take it by mouth.
5. Before the drug is given, the physician should make careful inquiry as to whether it has ever been taken by the patient before and, if so, what were the results at that occasion.

What we should all remember is that penicillin is our best antibiotic (germkiller) and should be reserved for those times when it is truly lifesaving and not used when other forms of treatment will do as well.

It Sure Stands Out Like a Sore Thumb

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby has the principal supporting role with the longest speech and Congress is given only incidental bit parts in the new movie, "The Big Year of Decision," produced by the National Citizens for Eisenhower Committee.

This 24-minute film has just been given a premiere showing in Washington before the President, cabinet members and wives, White House officials and congressmen "who have been working with Citizens for Eisenhower." This kicks off the campaign.

From Washington, this film will be shown most widely in the 85 congressional districts which in 1952 were won by a majority of 5 per cent or less and in the 34 states having senatorial races this year.

Forty of the House seats are now held by Republicans and 45 by Democrats. There are 37 Senate races—16 seats now held by Republicans and 21 by Democrats. North Carolina has two seats to fill and Nebraska three, the third being for the rest of 1954 only.

This being the political situation the film is intended to deal with, it might be expected that more emphasis would be put on Congress. But it is 99 per cent like in pictures and sound track and only a few minutes of credit are given to Congress.

If this is to be the pitch and the theme song of this close-race phase of the campaign, the emphasis will all be on coattail riding. The implication is that the thing to do is to support the candidates who support the Eisenhower program.

Here are a few excerpts from the sound-track script on the accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration.

"The U. S. has served notice on the Kremlin that any act of aggression will be immediately countered. (Picture of B-52.)

"Time and time again, as at the Berlin conference, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has maneuvered Soviet diplomats into admitting before the world that the Kremlin's intentions are not truly in the interest of peace. (Picture of Dulles.)

"...The U. S. is thriving today as never in its 178-year history. (Picture of people buying household appliances.)

"Inflation has been halted. (Picture of old folks looking at travel folder.)

"The American housewife is finding that she can get more for her shopping dollar." (Picture of woman in supermarket.)

Congress gets its brief nods after the Administration record of $14 billion cut in government spending and $7 billion tax cut, accompanied by pictures of House Ways and Means Committee meeting.

Again, to go with a film of the President addressing a joint session of Congress, the script reads: "President Eisenhower—in his relations with Capitol Hill—has steadfastly accorded to Congress the respect due the elected representatives of the people....But it remained for Congress to translate the President's program into law...."

The script says, "President Eisenhower has proposed a federal reinsurance program. If through Congress turned it down. It also says the President "called for construction of 140,000 public housing units during the next four years," though Congress cut it to 35,000 for this year only. The appeal is to the presidential program rather than what Congress didn't do about it.

Mrs. Hobby, a Texas Democrat who voted for Eisenhower, gets her big role through film clips from her speech to the New York Republican state dinner committee last May, supporting the President's program.

"It is a program that brought faith anew to a nation on inauguration day in January, 1953," she says. "And it is the same program that gave us fresh hope....in the President's messages to Congress during January and February of this year."

"Thus, in 1954, the President looks to the nation's citizens—Republicans, Democrats and Independents alike—to elect to Congress Republicans who share Dwight Eisenhower's dedication to America...." concludes the narrator. This is the only direct political pitch in the entire production.

Church As Democratic Force

The church was the first community of interest for our country and particularly for our race. It has mothered all other institutions and communities for the good of all people, asserting the dominant force for democratic rights for which the NAACP was organized 43 or 44 years ago. The failure of the churches of America to take a positive, courageous and constructive stand in behalf of its people, regardless of color, creed or national origin is a matter of grave concern.

The world is in confusion and lacking stability. We deem it imperative that the church play a more important part in the fight for full democracy. The time has come when we need and must support honest, sincere and courageous leadership. The day has passed when the Uncle Tom philosophy of leadership will secure the Negro rights and privileges which he has thus far failed to receive. The leadership of the NAACP should receive the church's full support in its fight to advance democratic rights for the people. The Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man is a fundamental Christian concept. In spite of this we find that the church has failed miserably and in many instances erected racial barriers among its own followers.

I shall not hesitate to say the violation of any basic principle of the church threatens the foundation upon which every right is founded. Finally, I believe that the Christian church of America has the spirit now, as never before, to practice the preachings of Jesus Christ by taking a righteous stand against all practices of discrimination and injustice against all peoples so that the nations and a world may have the peace and unity which a Christian people within a supposed Christian land should have.

In a world that is so full of cruelty, injustice, hatred, vice, greed, meanness and selfishness, I repeat, the church has failed.

Claims by Administration Held to Be at Cross Purposes on 'Achievements'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 24—Every body is apparently to be asked to rejoice during the coming political campaign over the "achievement" claimed by the Republican administration—that it stopped the war in Korea.

Yet the same administration, through its Department of Defense, is conceding that the armistice agreement which terminated the fighting and pledged the return of all prisoners wasn't worth the paper it was written on.

An announcement by the Department of Defense reveals that at least 526 Americans still have not been accounted for by the Chinese Communists and that specifically 15 American fliers—who are admitted to be alive—are being held by the Peiping government as hostages in a form of blackmail unprecedented in world history.

A Defense Department official is given in a United Press dispatch as authority for the statement that the Chinese Reds have been holding the 15 U. S. Air Force fliers as "political prisoners." The dispatch says: "The (Defense Department) official disclosed that negotiations have been conducted through 'third parties' during the past year for the release of the airmen and other Americans being held by the Reds. He said the Communist position, in effect, has been: 'Admit us to the United Nations and we will release your men.'"

It revealed also by the Defense Department that during the recent conference at Geneva, Switzerland, the fact that the 15 airmen were being held as "political prisoners" was admitted by the Reds. This was also verified by returned prisoners of war who report that the Communists said the servicemen will be held "for use as one of the bargaining points to secure Chinese admission to the United Nations."

Under the circumstances, how can the Republican orators go up and down the country boasting about the Korean armistice when the Republican administration itself has failed to assert the American rights in the face of the flagrant violations of the armistice agreement by the Communists?

Another pertinent question that will be asked is how the United States government can continue to consent, as it is doing now, to the relaxation of trade restrictions between the allies and Red China. The Red Chinese director of trade with western countries, Lu Shu Chang, was recently quoted by British reporters accompanying Messrs. Attlee and Bevan of the British Parliament on their visit to Peiping as having said: "We feel that West Germany, Belgium, France and others seem to be more interested in business with China than is Britain. We have imported steel, other metals, machinery and heavy equipment from them. But many British shipping companies have provided the shipping services to bring these goods to China."

This astounding revelation has brought forth from the British Ministry of Transport in London the statement, as reported by the United Press, that "no British ships had carried strategic cargoes to Red China at least since March 1953, when strict new controls were put into effect."

But the Korean war lasted from June 1950 to the summer of 1953, so now it appears that for nearly three years of the Korean war British ships were carrying strategic goods to Red China. This is a tragic climax to the many denials and counter-denials which have been issued ever since Senator McCarthy, Republican of Wisconsin, made his charges that British shipping had been carrying strategic goods to Red China.

It was on November 24, 1953 that the Wisconsin senator, in a nationwide television broadcast, answering former President Truman's speech on "McCarthyism," aroused the hostility of many Republicans because he criticized the Republican administration, too, for failing to deal sternly with the Communists. He called attention to the fact that the Red Chinese were still holding American boys as prisoners despite their promise to release them when the armistice was signed. He urged that American billions be withheld from allies who traded with the Reds. Those two points—about the prisoners and trade with Red China—were the principal charges he made in his speech but from that day on he incurred the wrath of the Eisenhower regime, and some of the advisers at the White House began at that time to lay the lines for the many moves that have come since to punish Senator McCarthy for his criticism of the administration.

But what is even more embarrassing to report now is that Messrs. Attlee and Bevan and a delegation from the British Labor party have been hobnobbing with the high officials of the Red China and the Soviet governments—toasting them and praising them. Coincidentally, the mothers and fathers of American boys held as prisoners as well as the parents of the 33,000 American boys killed in the 11,000 wounded are left to wonder whether the British government has any feeling of sympathy for them. For it does look as if the British legislators have forgotten all about the Americans who thought an agreement to return all prisoners meant what it said. It's going to be hard to persuade the American Congress to keep troops in Europe in the future if America's allies continue their indifference to sacrifices already made in the idealistic cause of collective security. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 22—Martin Dies has come back into his own by a freak process.

The "news" magazine called U. S. News and World Report has run one of its typical, exhaustive, precise interview articles with the man who first turned toward communism the inquiries of the old "special" House Committee on Un-American Activities. It is a significant fact that you would never expect to find a similar factual treatment of this subject in any of the publications of the Time-Life group of Henry Luce.

U. S. News and World Report is, to the shame of our magazine, unique in its ordinary honesty.

In this memoir, Dies truthfully tells of the persecution which he was put to by Roosevelt and his traitorous Cabal, and of the plot which drove him out of Congress. After a lapse, the whole state of Texas sent him back, as congressman at large.

It is a queer fact that the story of Dies' martyrdom still is news after many tellings of every important detail in this column over many years. This is not "news" and yet it is because news is news until it penetrates the intelligence and comprehension of the people.

They would not believe the awful truth even when some of the incidents were enacted before their very eyes. For example, it was timely reported in the daily papers that Eleanor Roosevelt showed an attachment for Joe Lash, an impudent young Red who went down to Washington to insult and defy the Dies committee, took him and his gang to the White House for meals, put Lash up in Lincoln's very own bed, tried to get him a commission as an intelligence officer in the navy, visited him and got him excused from a military formation at Miami Beach when he finally was drafted and sent to special so-called duties, called on him again at Guadalcanal at great expense to the taxpayers and great risk to the real fighting forces and, in many other brazen manifestations, showed a sympathy which even now is widely excused as that of a well-meaning but honest lady.

It has been many years since I cured myself of the delusion that this female meant well toward Americans of absolute patriotism, high moral principle and good repute. I may have believed that she was honest back in that same dawn of my political intelligence but if so, that defect has been cured by her scramble for money as the by-product of her late husband's office and the sly omissions from her journalism of damning truths, well known to her.

The prominence, novelty and impact of the Martin Dies story support my argument that the great tragedy of this wonderful republic should be retold many times in our daily papers. Many millions of us who proudly think we are well informed simply do not know the awful events nor appreciate the sharp collapse of our normal morals.

The Dies Committee succeeded in an earlier special committee for a while headed by Samuel Dickstein, of New York.

Dickstein organized a group to spy on American citizens whom he suspected of pro-Nazi activities. It never occurred to Dickstein to investigate pro-Soviet activities or Communist treason. Some of Dickstein's staff, who boasted in print of their crookedness and treachery, worked also for Isidore Lipschutz, of New York, in his misceled non-sectarian anti-Nazi league. Lipschutz also runs a thing devoted to an approximation of the Morgenthau plan, called the Society for the Prevention of World War 3.

This is the early background of the House committee. Naturally, when Dies succeeded Dickstein and started exposing treason in the Roosevelt regime, the great hatred of the conspiracy in all its secret ramifications was turned on him.

Possibly, one day, when the muzzle is off the press and radio and the Dewey New York machine has fallen apart, the ghastly truth will be told. I hope it will not then be too late.

Q—For how long has the catcher's mask been used in baseball?
A—The first one was worn in 1875.

Q—Why do so many worms appear on the ground after a rain?
A—This is probably because their tunnels are flooded and they come up for air. An earthworm will survive for some time in water, but needs air for a supply of oxygen.

On Labor Day Sailing Party
Take Easy-to-Handle Food

THE UDELL FAMILY of Chicago, veteran Lake Michigan sailors, enjoy a sailboat picnic supper.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor Clare Udell of Chicago is a veteran Lake Michigan sailboat skipper. Life on the water he says, brings that delightful feeling of relaxation plus a tremendous appetite—two things that go a long way to make the Labor Day holidays perfect.

"Whether one fishes, runs an outboard, just likes to row or goes sailing, there probably will only be one free hand for eating," he adds.

"Therefore we keep our eating mighty simple. For a day's sail from Belmont Harbor, we take individual lunch boxes filled with sandwiches and cupcakes. The thermos bottle holds either coffee or a hot soup. Breezes can be quite chilly far out on the lake."

"A small portable cooler holds soft drinks and a tray of fruits plus individual salads. A firm gelatin salad or potato salad offers the easiest eating. Small plastic containers which can be tightly covered are ideal for salads."

Skipper Udell reminds that foods need to be adaptable on a sail or a boat trip. There is always something happening on a boat. One has to be free to take care of it immediately.

Select foods which can be eaten out-of-hand—the kind that you can pass to someone either fore or aft. Only if you plan to tie up at a mooring, take along a menu that is to be served from a table.

For a menu that can take it, even if the lake is a bit choppy, the Udeells like: Rye bread sandwiches (Swiss cheese—hard salami with horseradish butter), enriched bread sandwiches (peanut butter—orange filling), jelly perfection salad, frosted cup cakes, bananas, plums, peaches, bottled soft drinks, hot coffee, and milk.

Swiss Cheese—Hard Salami Sandwich (6 sandwiches)

One-quarter cup soft butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish, 12 slices rye bread, 12 slices hard salami, 6 slices Swiss Cheese.

Combine butter or margarine and horseradish and spread about 2 teaspoons of mixture on each slice of rye bread. Place 2 slices salami and 1 slice cheese between rye bread slices spread with horseradish butter.

Peanut Butter—Orange Sandwich Filling (4 sandwiches)

One-half cup peanut butter, ¼ cup orange juice, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, dash salt. Combine peanut butter, orange juice, orange rind, and salt.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Pan-broiled chopped round steak patties, whipped potatoes, corn and lima beans, rye toast, butter or margarine, sliced tomatoes, peach shortcake, coffee, tea, milk.

JACOBYBad Judgment Will Cause Headaches

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"Please settle an argument for us," requests a Birmingham correspondent. "There's no denying that South made the wrong play in the accompanying hand, but the question is whether this wrong play was a mistake or a merely unfortunate guess."

"East was known to be a crafty player, and his spades might easily be headed by the ace-jack. After much anxious thought, South played the queen of spades, and the hand promptly collapsed."

"The defenders were then able to rattle off five spade tricks and the ace of clubs, so South was set two tricks. Obviously, South could have made his contract if he had finessed the ten of spades at the second trick. Is South more to be pitied than blamed, or should we just ship him to the glue factory?"

I wouldn't go so far as to suggest the glue factory, but I think that South made a mistake in judgment. As a general principle, it is unwise to make a play that will work only if an opponent has been crafty.

Consider this problem from the point of view of probability. Whenever East's spades are headed by the ace-jack, he is absolutely sure to win the first trick with the ace and return a low spade.

When East's spades are headed by the ace-king, however, there is some chance that he will win the first trick with king in the conventional way, no matter how crafty he may happen to be.

It is a contrast between certainty and mere probability. It is bad enough to be deceived by a crafty player when he is actually being crafty, but it is even worse to deceive yourself when your opponent is actually doing nothing.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Richards Will Take
Role of Sganarelle

Woodstock, Aug. 23 — Although he is one of Woodstock's accomplished actors, Houston Richards has for the past few seasons been concerned with directing, both the Woodstock Foundation productions and the Coach House Players of Kingston. This year, however, Richards will step before the footlights in the leading role of Sganarelle in Moliere's one-act play, The Forced Marriage, one of the three features to be presented by the Woodstock Foundation at the Woodstock Playhouse the evenings of Sept. 17 and 18. The comedy will be directed by Ed Mann, formerly of the Loft Players, who appeared at the Maverick Theatre several seasons ago and who appeared in The Square, the arena theatre in Greenwich Village which created a sensation in the fall of 1950.

Richards appeared in New York in such notable productions as Let's Face It, with Danny Kaye; Claire Booth Luce's comedy, Kiss The Boys Goodbye; Red Hot and Blue, with Bob Hope; and with Ethel Merman and Jimmy Durante in Anything Goes. For five years during the 1930's Richards appeared at the Lakewood Theatre at Skowhegan, Me., one of the foremost summer theatres in the country, with Howard Lindsay, Dorothy Stickney, Charles Coburn, Humphrey Bogart at the time that Norman Bel Geddes was scenic designer. In this village Richards was featured at the Woodstock Playhouse for two seasons with Michael Linenthal and for three seasons with Robert Elwyn.

In a singing and dancing role, Isabel Morel also of the Circle in The Square, will play one of the two gypsies in the play, and Louise Brokenshaw the other. Rita Mann, sister of the director, will play the part of Dori-mene, and Jules Viglielmo, Ly-caste the young lover.

The two mad philosophers will be played by Alphonse Bare and Carl Hubbell. Other in the cast are Irwin Ruff, Abe Molyneux and Al Mulock.

The set for the play, which will be done in modern dress, will be created by Alphonse Bare, Ed Mann and Edward Chavez.

In addition to the Moliere play the Foundation will present a one-act opera by Julian Freedman and a third feature, details to be announced. Mrs. John Striebel is program director for the entire production.

Proceeds from the annual Foundation productions are presented as awards to worthy people in the fields of art, music and literature.

Historical Society
Has Three Speakers

Woodstock, Aug. 23 — Three speakers presented colorful side-lights on the historical lore of this village and the Hudson River valley at a meeting of the Woodstock Historical Society at which the Woodstock group entertained the members of the Historical Society of Ulster County last Saturday afternoon.

The meeting was held at the Lewis Hollow home of Mrs. Louise Hasbrouck Zimm, who following the welcome by Alf Evers, president of the Woodstock group, gave an account of the settlement of Lewis Hollow. Although Lewis Hollow has only recently achieved the distinction of being designated on maps, it was the location selected by Thomas Lewis, exiled from Belfast, Ireland in 1652.

Seafaring Man

A seafaring man, Lewis plied his barks up and down the Hudson river, according to Mrs. Zimm, and it is known that he carried messages for Governor Stuyvesant when Kingston was attacked by the British. He came to Woodstock via Saugerties, built the present Zimm home and was one of about six Irishmen who built farm houses on the hill. It was later called "Irish Village" because of the sturdy Irishmen who came over in 1840 to work in the quarries, which were still being worked in 1918 when the Zimms came to live there. The quarries were still being worked up into the 1920's. As many as 60 people lived in the eight or 10 houses which composed "Irish Village," Mrs. Zimm said. She also related an amusing story of how they swayed an election in Woodstock.

Although Mrs. Zimm reported that her family had searched for many years for Indian relics on the property, it was not until two years ago that her son, while playing the garden, dug up the first spearhead, which she exhibited, on the property. The relic was sent to experts in Schenectady who reported that it was of an ancient Indian culture which went back as far as 3,000.

Defends Dr. Hall

A local historical figure, whose outlines have been blurred in the passage of time, was championed by Alf Evers, who read his absorbing paper entitled A Defense of Dr. Ebenezer Hall, who came to this village from Warwick, Mass., while associated with the Franklin Glass Manufacturing Company, to learn the secrets of making glass at the Shady factory in 1813. Evers first read a bitter attack on Dr. Hall by the Honorable Jonathan Blake, written after Hall's factory failed. Dr. Hall, Evers related, came again to the Shady factory where he was paid exceptionally high wages for his services to the Woodstock Glass Manufacturing Company. The doctor also returned to the field of medicine and also entered local politics as inspector of common schools and overseer of highways, as well as becoming justice of the peace and commissioner of excise. Despite Blake's attack, Evers declared that his own research throughout the years, and that he believed that Blake's attack on the able, energetic and versatile Dr. Hall was unwarranted. Evers also stated that Dr. Hall has in local lore, frequently been confused with Larry Hall, another eminent citizen of this village.

Pond Is Speaker

Widening the scope of historical lore to the Hudson valley, James B. Pond, who assumed management of his father's famous lecture bureau, told of how during a trip to London with Raphael A. Weed, painter of murals on the Robert Fulton and other Hudson river steamers, the artist recovered the original map made at the time of the settling of Newburgh, for the price of $1,500. Drawn by Augustine Graham, the complicated boundaries caused extreme confusion until Weed recovered the map and the City of Newburgh "got itself straightened out." The London dealer, from whom Weed bought the map, had found it among a packet of papers pertaining to a law suit in which Aaron Burr and Alexander Hamilton were the opposing attorneys. Lost for 144 years, the map turned up in 1930. Pond also related an account of his association, and his father's over the years with Malden-on-Hudson's famed citizen who would have been 99 years old this September, Poultny Bigelow. Even Mark Twain, whom Pond had known as a boy, had according to Pond, some association with the Hudson valley, even though there were several places in the area where Twain refused to speak. "Mark Twain," Pond said, "only lectured when he was broke, a situation which occurred about every 12 years." He was a magnificent speaker, however, and wherever he went, audiences flocked to hear him, Pond stated. Tea was served following the meeting.

DISCUSS MUSEUM PLANS — President Eisenhower views Statue of Liberty replica as Anna Lord Strauss and Pierre S. du Pont, 3rd, of Museum committee, tell of proposal for an Immigration Museum in base of the "famous lady."

Rare Magic Carpet
Collection Coming

Woodstock, Aug. 23—Residents and printed word for more than four centuries," according to Mrs. Wetterau. The Book of Knowledge set up the exhibit in a large house trailer so it could be taken to areas that do not have access to the large libraries and museums where such material is invariably housed.

The oldest items in the display are cuneiform writing on clay, recording deeds of sale and royal decrees from ancient Babylon and Sumeria.

A papyrus leaf from the Egyptian Book of the Dead displays the first use of color in pre-Christian books. Beautifully handwritten and colorfully illuminated manuscripts made by monks in the middle ages are included in a wide variety in the exhibit to demonstrate techniques that eventually brought about the invention and development of printing.

Middle Europe, the birthplace of printing, was visited twice by a Book of Knowledge representative to obtain some of the rare and historic samples and books that are included in the display. Most important of these is a rare fragment from the celebrated 36 line Gutenberg Bible, one of the most sought after items in the world of rare books.

For the last three years, an average of 1000 persons have seen the Magic Carpet exhibit every week. It has visited more than 200 schools, libraries and communities in that time and is now making its third trip across the continent visiting regional areas.

The collection will be shown from 9 a. m. to 12 and from 1 to 5 p. m. on August 30 and 31. An expert in the history of rare books and manuscripts accompanies the exhibit and will explain the significance of the items to local visitors. No charge is made to visitors.

Why We Say-- "LITTLE SCAMP"

A small boy who gets into trouble might be referred to as a "little scamp." The scamp though actually means one who is out of the battlefield or not eligible to be in the army. The word came into English through the Old French, "enscamper" and from the Latin ex (out of) and campus (the battlefield). Technically anyone who wasn't a soldier was a scamp.

Women's Program
Aids New Business
In Kingston Area

Many local women are among the 18,000 who have consulted the Woman's Program of the New York State Department of Commerce in regard to marketing a home product, starting a shop or service, or a problem relating to an established business, according to a report issued by New York State Department of Commerce, summarizing nine years of Woman's Program services and 1953 activities.

According to W. Dale Swartzmiller, director of the Kingston office of the New York State Department of Commerce, 257 Fair Street, many enterprising housewives have been started in the right direction in marketing home products by using the services of the Woman's Program. Mr. Swartzmiller also points out that a clinic on businesses for women of the area was conducted here in 1946 at the Governor Clinton Hotel, and that a shopping survey was conducted through the program several years ago here.

ONE OF THOSE who have made successful use of the commerce office advice is Mrs. Henry Page of 105 Pearl street. Five years ago, Mrs. Page decided that an original recipe for French dressing might prove marketable.

She took her ideas and a sample of the product to Mr. Swartzmiller at the commerce office. Several visits later, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Page were co-operating on the home production of the dressing, which soon appeared in retail stores throughout the city as Nettie Page's French Dressing.

Kingston, N. Y., Aug. 24 - Yeah! here it comes again. But wait girls - with it comes new clothes, new friends and best of all, a new hairdo - so it isn't as bad as it sounds.

Mr. Swartzmiller followed the usual procedure in advising Mrs. Page that he follows with all who come to his office seeking advice on starting home businesses. First he looks over the sample thoroughly, listens to the ideas and plans, and if he is favorably impressed, gives the go-ahead signal.

In some cases, he refers the consultee to the New York office, in others, sets up appointments with prospective buyers.

MR. SWARTZMILLER also advises on packaging and labeling of products, important in eye-appeal to customers. Judie's Restaurant owner, Mrs. Julia Currie, took his suggestions on the type of jar and design for the restaurant's special type of salad dressing.

Judie's patrons now can buy an attractive jar of Judie's French Dressing to use when dining at home as well as at the popular Albany avenue restaurant.

One successful business woman, Hilda Lightstone, dress shop owner in Woodstock and Kingston, consulted Mrs. Swartzmiller before starting her business. Complete information is available through the Women's Program regarding financing, advertising, keeping records and general management for "your own business."

Booklets help, too, with graphs, illustrations and examples and suggestions about fields to enter.

AT A CLINIC held in Kingston at the Governor Clinton Hotel in 1946, women of the area heard speakers in many lines of business, and had the opportunity of being counseled by experts. Exhibits showing products and techniques in business were also featured.

One of the main speakers at the clinic was Mrs. George Davenport, owner of Helen Davenport Dress Shop, Albany avenue, who was chosen as representative of the successful women in business. Mrs. Davenport told the large group of women attending the sessions how she began her dress shop, and gave details about her work including shopping in New York and attending many of the prominent fashion showings.

STIMULATING generally the program for small business office was the Bard College School for Small Business held in the spring of 1948 at Kingston High School, sponsored by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and the United States Department of Commerce as well as the New York State Department of Commerce.

The late J. K. Lasser, who died May 11 of this year, author of Your Income Tax, was an organizer of this school, along with Richard O. Gruver, city editor of The Freeman. The late Mr. Lasser and Mr. Gruver were then members of the board of trustees of Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson.

Mr. Swartzmiller assisted in this school as well as the Hon. Arthur H. Wicks, Harry duBois Frey, general manager, Freeman; Dr. Edward C. Fuller, president then of Bard; Arthur J. Laidlaw and Robert H. Herzog. The Kingston series, attended by 3,700 persons, served as a model for a similar school held in Poughkeepsie the next year, and at the University of Georgia some time later.

a bottle of Judie's French Dressing; lower left, W. Dale Swartzmiller, counselor of Women's Program at Kingston office; and Mrs. George Davenport, owner of Helen Davenport Dress Shop, speaker at business clinic held here for women of area. (Freeman Photos)

ACCORDING TO an analysis of the entire Women's Program's consultations during 1953, most women intent on starting a new business that year were interested in initiating a service; 26 per cent planned to commercialize a home craft, needlework, or food product; 17 per cent had a shop in mind; and mail order, herb marketing, and similar enterprises were the aim of 15 per cent.

Mr. Swartzmiller explains his services as counsel to prospective business women, "Whether they want to make dolls, preserves or set up a dress shop, I look for something special, decide whether it's worthwhile, and proceed with appointments for buyers. If it's not worthwhile, I discourage them, or tell them to go home and try again. But I always like to encourage new business in the community, and hope each one will be successful."

CANCELLED WEDDING

A girl writes: "I was to have been married next month but something has happened which makes it impossible for me to go through with the wedding. Last week a shower was given for me at which I received many lovely presents. Half of these presents came from my ex-fiance's relatives. I know they should be returned but as I do not know where these relatives live, I do not know where to send them. Could I possibly pack them all up and send them to my ex-fiance and ask him to return them to his relatives?"

Certainly! In fact, there is nothing else you can do.

Set Your Own Table Correctly

Dear Mrs. Post: I am left-handed and when I am home I, of course, set my place at table most convenient to me. But when I am invited out to dinner in someone else's house the table is always set for a right-handed person and I find it very difficult to manipulate the implements. I am all thumbs and this can be very embarrassing. I would like to know if, done very inconspicuously, it would be proper to place the implements where they will be easiest for me to manage?

Answer: Certainly you can reach across your plate and pick up your silver without resetting the table. Nobody in the world is going to notice this, but to reset the table would be more awkward, conspicuous and discourteous. My advice would be to have your table set properly at home so that you would not be awkward when you go out.

Reconsidered Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: A boy I know has asked me to go to a dance. As none of my other friends were going to this dance I said "no." Since then some of my best friends have changed their minds and are now going to the dance. Would it be proper for me to call this boy and tell him that I would like to after all?

Answer: If, when you said "no" you told him the reason why you refused, you could now call him and tell him you would like to go if he hasn't invited someone else.

Are you planning a buffet dinner or supper? Mrs. Post includes invitation forms, table setting suggestions and a menu in her leaflet E-29, "Buffet Dinners, Lunches, and Suppers." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. The Mature Parent

Realistically-Trained Child Can Challenge Injustices

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Ruth, 13, has been writing home complaining letters from summer camp. She feels particularly abused by her counselor's "unfairness."

This camp official not only forces Ruth to give an hour each day to a kind of craftwork she detests, but refuses to allow her to read during the rest hours. Yet she has granted this reading privilege to two of Ruth's cabin mates.

Ruth's mother asks me, "Do you think a friendly letter note from me to the camp director might remedy this situation?"

No, I do not. I think the remedy may lie somewhere in the answers to these questions:

Why has Ruth not tried to remedy her situation for herself? Why has she not challenged this "unfairness"? Why does she feel so abused by it? Does Ruth think this is her first experience with injustice?

If so, she has been allowed to live in illusion. As imperfect justice is inherent in any human situation, Ruth has undoubtedly been unfairly treated before.

If she has been taught otherwise, then injustice has been done her far more serious than any her counselor has imposed on her.

That, I think, is Ruth's problem.

If a child is encouraged to believe in our perfection, his belief forces him to ignore our imperfections. Thus, he gets no experience in challenging imperfections.

He manages pretty well for a time, maybe. For we, never daring to admit we are unjust, learn to make our injustices palatable by loving words and generous gifts.

Then one day, our youngster comes smack up against injustice that doesn't take the trouble to make itself palatable. She feels terribly abused by her commonplace experience. Instead of challenging her counselor's unfairness, she runs away from it in complaining letters.

Children trained in awareness of human imperfection don't scare so easily. As it's an old story to them, they challenge it without great belligerence.

Like other realistic people, they accept what they cannot change. Their letters say, "The food's good. I like the swimming, too, but my counselor is a drip."

When growing children continue to ask us to fight their battles with other adult authorities, I think we always have to ask ourselves:

"Have we made ourselves inaccessible to criticism? Have we assumed a perfection that has denied this child confidence in his right to question injustice?"

Whitecaps End Water Ski Trip

Poughkeepsie, Aug. 24 (P)—Choppy water in the Hudson river has thwarted two young men from Long Island who attempted to set a non-stop water skiing record.

With their trip down the river more than half over, Jack Hannon, 27, of Farmingdale, and Dick Hunt, 23, of Babylon, decided to give up and spend last night here. Their projected 230-mile route included skiing three times between Albany and Troy and then going down the river to Manhattan and along the coast to Jones Beach on Long Island. They had hoped to make the trip in 12 hours.

The present water skiing record is 218 miles. A friend of the pair, Larry Sullivan, 22, of Point Lookout on Long Island, towed them with a 26-foot motorboat.

Failure of the attempt was announced by a spokesman at the Marine Stadium at Jones Beach, where Hannon and Hunt are performers in the "Arabian Nights" musical show.

Rapp's Express nailed down the American Division pennant in the City Softball League yesterday with a 11-4 victory over Bence's Tavern.

The win gave the Expressmen a 17-4 record for the season. American Legion finished second with a record of 15 and 7. Perry's grabbed third with a 6-1 win over Hercules to finish with 14 and 8.

THE HERCULES defeat put the Powdermen in a tie for fourth with Skyline at 13 wins and 9 losses each. They meet Wednesday at lower Hasbrouck Park in a one-game sudden death playoff for the fourth spot in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

Rapp's opens its end of the Shaughnessy in a best-of-three series with Perry's, starting Wednesday at Block Park.

The American Legion meets the winner of the Hercules-Skyline playoff in the first round of the playoffs.

A couple games remain in the National Division but it is not likely they will affect the present alignment of Chez Emile, Subway Grill, Destroyer A.C. and Lincoln Park Inn in the first division.

JACK KOZLOWSKI and Ken Steltz combined for Rapp's easy win over Bence's. Kozlowski pitched a seven-hitter and Steltz went "4 for 4," including three singles and a homer.

Bruce Hinkley pounded three singles and Bill Sinsabaugh hit a pair as Kozlowski was in complete control after Rapp's staked him to a 4-2 lead in the first. Jess Temple slammed two singles for the losers.

Carlo Perry of Perry's stopped Hercules on five hits for a 6-1 triumph. Five Perry runs cluttered across the plate in the last two innings.

Four Perry players—Bill Slover, Joe Wolf, Bob Slover and Jack Houghtaling—got two hits. J. Grubb, Hercules left fielder, hit a double and two singles.

Hiltebrant's Beat Island Dock 5-3; Sweep National LL Honors

LL Series Dates Set

Sprague Electric, champions of the American Little League, and Hiltebrant's National champions, meet in the first game of Kingston's Little World Series, Wednesday at 6 p. m. at Little League Stadium.

The second game is scheduled Thursday at 6 p. m. at Kingman Park, off Lawrence street, home of the National League. A third game, if necessary, will be played at Little League Stadium Friday.

By BEN PHILEGAR (Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Milwaukee Braves have eight days left to get back into the National League pennant fight. After that it will be too late.

The big tests start tonight when Philadelphia moves into County Stadium in Milwaukee for the first of three games. Then comes New York for two games and Brooklyn for four.

A sweep would make the Braves dangerous contenders. A miss-step anywhere along the path could be the end.

Last week should be edged in black on Milwaukee calendars. Only seven days ago the Braves were a mere 3½ games out of the lead and owned a nine-game winning streak. Then came four losses in six games and now they're 7½ behind.

A TEAM with a real battle to stay in the first division, the Phillies have had a lot to say about the positions of the first two teams in the pennant race. In the last week, for example, they personally added three games to the Giants' edge over Brooklyn by beating the Dodgers three games and losing three to the Giants.

Milwaukee holds a 9-8 edge over New York and a 10-6 bulge over the Dodgers so far. But against the Phillies the Braves only have been able to break even at 8-8.

The Giants and Dodgers both open 10-game swings through the west today. The Giants stop off first in Chicago. Brooklyn begins in Cincinnati. As soon as the two clubs come home they collide in a three-game series at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 3-4-5.

The forthcoming week in the American League includes an extended tour of the eastern seaboard by the fast moving Cleveland Indians, prior to their final three-game visit to New York.

The Indians, 5½ games ahead of the Yankees, play a pair in Philadelphia starting tonight, three in Washington and three in Boston before coming to Yankee Stadium Aug. 31.

THE YANKEES, meanwhile, will be nursing their wounds at home with two against Baltimore, three against Detroit and a single date with Chicago.

Not since Casey Stengel became manager have the Yankees been so far behind in the second half of the season as they are now.

Three games were scheduled yesterday in the majors but only two were played as rain washed out a Cincinnati engagement with Milwaukee.

Johnny Lujack, Bobby Williams and Tommy O'Connell were shoved into the breach when Luckman retired.

SO, NOW COMES Bratkowski—and the fanfare is pretty terrific.

Frank Leahy told Halas: "He has the finest passing form of anybody I ever saw, including Sammy Baugh."

Steve Owen, ex-New York Giant coach, declared: "A coming all-time star."

Paul Brown of Cleveland added: "He can't miss."

Cecil Isbell, one-time star passer for Green Bay, appraised: "Best I ever saw."

Bratkowski, for a lack of an adequate running offense to supplement his aerial work, was required to punt 45 times last fall. His 42.6 average topped the nation.

Vols Nip Rotary, 2-1 On Short's 5-Hitter

Vols rallied for two runs in the bottom of the seventh to shade the Rotary, 2-1, in a make-up Fraternal Youth League yesterday at Dietz Stadium.

Jim Uhl held the Vols to two hits, struck out 9 and didn't walk a batter. The Rotarians collected five singles off Bob Short, who walked five and fanned eight.

Bill Gully and John Smith collected two hits apiece for the Rotary.

Four Ex-Champs Eliminated In First Round of Amateur

Detroit, Aug. 24 (P)—Amateur golf still is a game for scramblers—in spite of the efforts of the pros to teach "scientific" play and of the U. S. Golf Association to find a championship course that will penalize every mistake.

It was 1950 amateur champion Sammy Urzetta who voiced that opinion, just after being eliminated in the first round of the 1954 Amateur championship at the Country Club of Detroit.

And the results of yesterday's other first round encounters supported his opinion.

Sammy definitely had been out-scrambled, losing on the 19th hole to Tim Holland, the tall young toy manufacturer from Rockville Centre, N. Y., and he was feeling pretty bad about it.

MISS GRETCHEN BENICE of 259 Lucas avenue who spent a year in Stuttgart, Germany studying voice as a Fulbright award winner. (Freeman Photo)

Contralto Spent 'Wonderful Year' Of Music Study

"The Fulbright opened up all opportunities for me," said attractive and talented Miss Gretchen Bence, for a wonderful year of study in Germany. The brown-eyed, young Kingston contralto, returned home two weeks ago from a year of voice study in Stuttgart, Germany, under a Fulbright scholarship grant.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Bence of 259 Lucas avenue, Gretchen was enthusiastic about her good luck in choosing Stuttgart and finding excellent instructors at the Musik Hochschule. "My voice coach in New York, Conrad V. Bos, suggested Stuttgart for my year of study, because of the fine quality of orchestra, opera and theatre groups there," she said.

"It turned out to be one of the most fortunate things I've ever done," Gretchen continued. "I studied voice with Frau Professor Mielsch and coached lieder with Hermann Reutter, who is one of the leading composers in Germany today, and often accompanied Elizabeth Schwarzkopf in concerts."

LEIDER is her special field of interest. For one so young in the singing profession, the contralto has formed some very definite opinions. Tanned from the ocean trip, and dressed in Oxford grey Bermuda shorts, a black blouse, and sandals from Greenwich Village, "not Italy," she made herself comfortable in a chair in her living room.

"I never believe in singing down to the public, and I do think that the public will listen to good music even if it is unfamiliar," she said. "We proved it by the series of lieder concerts in Stuttgart that Herr Reutter arranged."

"EVEN THOUGH lieder isn't 'selling' as much as opera, the final performance of our 'Lieder Abends' in Stuttgart was sold out. We had to turn people away."

This was by far the most thrilling experience in her year abroad; even though she tried to be casual, she grew more enthusiastic as she recalled the sequence of events.

"Herr Reutter helped us rent a hall, and the owner took only a third of the amount he should have," the award winner explained. "It was intimate for the lieder concert, a small hall. And we actually made $25 (American money) on the final performance."

THE CONTRALTO sang a solo recital in the June series; a Schubert cycle, the last 14 songs written by the composer; as well as several by Schumann. A baritone Fulbright winner sang the second concert, also lieder; and they sang a joint recital for the final Lieder Abend, 34 songs by Hugo Wolf.

"The audience wanted more. They just didn't want to go home," she recalled. Wolf is a home-town favorite, since he had spent time in Stuttgart when a young man. "The people came with scores and followed each selection," the soloist said. "At first it scared me, until I realized they liked the music so well they came to learn more about it."

Critics gave the two such a warm opinion on their solo concerts, that the packed house was the result at the final performance, Herr Reutter was accompanied for all three concerts.

HER YEAR of study, though climaxed by the unusual recital given the two young American singers, was filled with rich musical training. Private lessons were arranged at set hours each day, but both teachers gave her "overtime" when they had free moments.

"Frau Mielsch feels that music becomes a part of life, and is always ready to have a musical. Kaffee und Kuchen hours on Sunday were like that," Gretchen explained, "like a musical party at her house. I'd sing, she'd play piano, and someone would play violin."

What of opera? "In Germany, everything is sung in that language. Herr Reutter thinks opera should be sung in the original language, and I agree," she said firmly. "I sang some Milhaud in French in a Hochschule recital, which was quite unusual."

MISS BENICE sang in "Elektra" by Strauss, with the Stuttgart Opera Company, but feels that it takes an older person to do justice to the dramatic roles assigned contraltos.

"Concert is the field I'm really interested in. I'd like to go on studying for a while either here or in Germany to prepare for it," she says of her future plans. "But I'm wondering if making a 'name' in opera is a requirement for a successful concert career," and she frowned a bit.

Fortunate in her choice of rooms in Stuttgart, one in a private home where she had her own piano to use, another in the home of the American consul and family while on leave, she overcame the initial difficulties when she and 12 other winners arrived in Stuttgart. In the middle of the folk festival which jammed the housing facilities, they were forced into locating in an expensive hotel.

"BUT WE raised such a fuss that we soon found better and less expensive quarters," she added. Serious students, they planned to spend money on travel in Italy, Germany and Austria as Gretchen did, hearing operas and visiting museums.

Not a "tourist," the contralto preferred "Seeing the places on my own," developed a fondness for carvings by Riemen-schneider, spent two entire mornings in the Sistine Chapel, and much time talking with people.

"I never heard any performances there which excelled those I've heard in this country," she said proudly. "Although, as a general rule, I have to admit the public is more educated about music over there, they aren't always attracted by magnetic personalities and star names."

A VOICE PUPIL of Leonard Stine in this city, Miss Bence studied further at the State Teachers College, Crane Department of Music. Later, she was a member of the Robert Shaw Chorale, toured with the group through the southeast, and made recordings with Rise Stevens.

"EVEN THOUGH I know not all the Fulbright students had the same opportunities as I did, I feel that everyone benefited from the year abroad." And she was very decisive. "I think this plan of sending students abroad is one of the most important parts in international diplomacy."

To prove she means it, Miss Bence is making it her business to correct wrong impressions about Germany and the people, which she's noticed in questions asked her. "If you give people a chance to be individuals, they'll give you a chance too."

Not on vacation on vacation, for long, Miss Bence gave a recital August 8 at Brevard, N. C., appearing with the symphony orchestra in Brahms Alto Rhapsody, and in a solo quartet in the Haydn Mass.

administration measures.

"Now, 54, of them were enacted into law," he added. "We did not always make home runs, but anyway we did have 54 hits. Some of them aren't quite all that we wanted, but that after all is batting average. $30, and any baseball fan will tell you that is pretty good going in any league."

(The President's arithmetic was off a bit. Actually, on the basis of his figures, the average was 84%).

EISENHOWER dealt at length on the tax revision bill which he said will save taxpayers $7,400,000,000 a year.

"This is money you spend for yourself instead of the government spending it for you," he declared. "... You are using your own decisions instead of a bureaucrat's decision."

He also claimed a two-thirds cut in federal deficits—he said their size was "appalling when he took office—and declared: "We are well on the way toward a goal, finally, of achieving a balanced budget in our income and our outgo."

But the Chief Executive added that this is "a human administration" which hasn't placed "the pocketbook above the heart."

ON THAT point, he pointed to enactment of legislation in the fields of housing, social security, health and agriculture, and said it's all designed to make America a better, more secure place in which to live.

sisted that the modifications he demanded at Brussels were necessary to win French ratification. Some members of his cabinet favor the pact as it stands, but others oppose it unless it is drastically altered. Whichever way the premier swings, he is bound to lose support.

THERE WAS some doubt among politicians today whether his cabinet could survive the treaty debate.

Former Premier Antoine Pinay, a supporter of EDC, suggested last night that the six Western European allies go ahead with the scheme for an 18-month "trial marriage" period. They should put it into effect as originally drafted, he said, but agree that any of the members could call a conference for revision of impractical features for the first 18 months. This period could be extended if necessary.

PINAY SAID his proposal had the support of the powerful Popular Republican Movement (MRP), whose members are among EDC's chief French backers.

Georges Bidault, oftentimes foreign minister and an MRP spokesman, also insisted that France back EDC as it stands. He described the formula as the only one "which can organize protection for the free world without danger either for Germany or anyone else."

Daniel Mayer, leader of a Socialist bloc opposed to EDC, demanded that the treaty should be put before the National Assembly, either to be approved or rejected. He clearly was confident the Assembly would kill EDC.

Republicans Call Endorsements Fraud
New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—A group of Republican candidates in Queens have filed court suits charging Liberal Party leaders and some Democrats in the county with a "conspiracy to perpetrate a fraud."

Arthur G. Warner and George W. Herz, attorneys for the Republican candidates, said: "For years it has been common knowledge that the Liberal Party bosses have circulated (nominating) petitions naming dummy candidates for various political offices for the sole purpose of getting control of the Liberal Party nominations so that they could be bargained with as their own private property."

The Republican suits were filed in an effort to void Liberal Party endorsements of Democratic candidates for Congress, the State Senate and the Assembly in Queens.

GETULIO VARGAS, who took his own life today in Rio de Janeiro.

Vargas Forced

The army, navy and air force issued a joint declaration pledging their support of the constitution.

MEANTIME the air force and police arrested Cimerio Eurides De Almeida, member of the guard, and Jose Antonio Soares, a palace employee as involved in the Lacerda plot. They also seized Joao Alcino De Nascimento, as the alleged trigger man.

This situation arose at a time Brazil was undergoing severe economic stress. Last week the price of coffee was forced down, in terms of American dollars, and there have been predictions of further blows against Brazilian currency.

The air force, with Vargas' permission, obtained the personal papers of Gregoria Fortunato, husky former head of the disbanded presidential guard, and these papers may have provided material for the final push against Vargas.

THE PAPERS, widely published, purported to show influence peddling by Fortunato. This increased the troubles for the government already under attack for alleged corruption.

New demands for Vargas' resignation were made at an aeronautical club meeting Saturday. Air force general officers conferred 10 hours Sunday and prepared a note saying Vargas' resignation was the only solution for the crisis.

THE ARMY officers' memorial calling for Vargas to quit was presented to him shortly after midnight by Gen. Mascarenhas De Moraes, chief of the armed forces general staff, and War Minister Zenobio Da Costa. Then came frantic hours of conferences between Vargas and these army officers and members of his cabinet, as well as members of his family.

Finally came the announcement that Vargas had agreed to take a leave of absence. It was the second time Vargas had been forced out of the presidency of this country of 54 million persons. An army-led coup in 1945 deposed him after he had served 15 years. But he came back in 1951.

EVER SINCE he resumed office there had been opposition sniping and frequent suggestions that he resign. The opposition was voted down in an attempt to bring impeachment proceedings against him last June. Vargas seized power in 1930 after leading a three-week armed uprising. He headed a provisional government for four years and then was elected president by a constituent Assembly under a new constitution. He established his dictatorship "estado novo"—new state—in 1937 after scrapping Congress on the ground political dissension had impeded orderly government. Until 1945, he fended off uprising in this hemisphere's largest nation.

LATE IN 1945 a bloodless army-led coup deposed Vargas and he retired to a cattle ranch in southern Brazil.

His popularity among the people continued despite his retirement and he was again elected president in a free election in October, 1950. In a four-man race, he polled just under 50 percent of the vote and was inaugurated Jan. 31, 1951, for a five-year term.

Sharp increases in the cost of living began to cut into Vargas' popular support with the masses in the past two years. He sought to offset this trend with decrees raising minimum city wage scales as much as 300 percent, but many companies countered with widespread firings.

The government also came under attack of army leaders, who contended it had not provided adequate military funds. The Lacerda plot brought the mounting tensions to a head.

To Get New Armor

Bremerton, Wash., Aug. 24 (AP)—Workers were stripping seven million pounds of armor from the 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt today, preparing to give the FDR a new suit of armor. The navy said a new type anti-torpedo blister to be installed around the FDR's hull possibly will cut down the need for as much armor as is being stripped off, but the navy would not give out any details. The armor stripped from the FDR at the Puget Sound naval shipyard here is being shipped in fragments to U. S. steel plants in Chicago and other cities. Some 80 railroad cars will be needed to carry the armor to the steel mills, where it will be melted down for reclamation.

Hunting Mishaps

Rome, Aug. 24 (AP)—Italy's hunting season opened yesterday. Two persons were killed and seven wounded in the first 24 hours.

Motorman Loses Foot in Crash

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Motorman David Moclair, 52, spent seven agonized hours trapped in the wrecked car of a subway train yesterday. Both legs were crushed. He was finally freed last night after one foot was amputated.

Moclair's empty train ran into a cement wall after a tripping device apparently failed and let it smash on through a bumping block at the end of the track.

RESCUE WORKERS first used acetylene torches to cut through to Moclair, but the heat became unbearable for him and they turned to saws, which slowed process. The motorman was comforted during his ordeal by his 16-year-old son and his wife, Mary, who wept when she first saw his plight.

Moclair could move only one hand, but this enabled him to reach for drinks of water and smoke an occasional cigarette. Doctors on the scene gave him drugs when the pain became excessive.

Moclair was taken to Fordham Hospital in critical condition.

Police Take Stand Against Bronx Gang Uprisings

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Bronx police took extraordinary precautions today to head off the chance of renewed warfare between two youth gangs—the "Young Sinners" and the "Imperial Hoods."

Rivalry between the two groups recently resulted in one boy being shot and critically wounded and another escaping death or severe injury only because a gun failed to go off.

Detectives learned the two gangs were preparing for further violence and had enlisted support from other gangs. Said one police official: "If we don't crack this down fast, there may be more bloodshed."

He made the remark after a "Young Sinners" member was arrested last night on a charge of possessing two loaded guns. Police identified him as Joseph Geheran, 19, of (1877 Daily Ave.) the Bronx.

GEHERAN was the 13th youth arrested since last Thursday when Michael Ciccolella, 17, was critically wounded by a group of youths who apparently mistook him for a member of the rival gang.

Police said all those arrested are members of the "Young Sinners" and have refused to talk. "When we question them, they're defiant. They laugh in our faces," one policeman reported.

Emergency police patrols were dispatched to Bronx trouble spots to guard against further gang violence. The gangland feud reportedly boiled up a week or so ago when the "Young Sinners" took offense because they were the subject of a filthy inscription written on a fence by the other gang.

AAF Recognizes China

Bern, Switzerland, Aug. 24 (AP)—The congress of the International Amateur Athletic Federation today unanimously voted to recognize Red China as a full member. The voting was by a show of hands after a short discussion during which Soviet Russia's delegates and Lord Buryleigh of Britain spoke for the recognition. Dan Ferris of New York, casting a vote for the United States' Amateur Athletic Union, also voted in favor of recognizing the Communist-aligned Chinese. Ferris said: "No valid reason was given for not voting to recognize this group. No Chinese group was recognized until today—Chinese from Formosa or Red China."

Although most diseases kill more men than women, exceptions are cancer, diabetes, some forms of goiter and gallstones.

Postal Clerks Don't Like Veto

Stillwater, Okla., Aug. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower's veto of a bill providing federal employees with a five percent pay raise was met with disfavor here yesterday by delegates of the biennial convention of the United National Assn. of Postal Clerks.

President Samuel S. Klein said "President Eisenhower has treated badly loyal, government employees, adding 'all federal employees, and postal employees are deeply shocked to learn of failure of the administration to fulfill a campaign promise.'"

The convention continues through Thursday. About 500 are attending.

Attlee, Others Talk With Mao

The following is from the correspondent of the London Daily Herald, organ of the British labor movement, accompanying the Labor party group on its visit to China.

By DERYCK WINTERTON
Peiping, Aug. 24 (AP)—Clement Attlee and his British Labor party delegation have a two-hour talk today with Mao Tse-tung, head of the Chinese government.

It is the first time that western statesmen have made close personal contact with China's No. 1 leader. The meeting has the same historic quality as the Laborites' Moscow meeting with Premier Georgi Malenkov. Attlee has already told Malenkov and Chou En-lai, China's No. 2 man, that everyone in Britain would be very glad to welcome them there.

It was expected he would assure Mao of the same thing. The invitation to Chou and Malenkov was in no sense a formal one. The Labor party is not the British government, and obviously such an invitation could come only from the government. The delegation has decided that no report on the conclusion it has reached during its trip will be made before its return to London, expected to be Sept. 14.

AN INTERIM statement will be issued then, but a full report must wait for the party conference later in the fall.

Labor Party Secretary Morgan Phillips, a member of the delegation commented to yesterday on American press criticisms of the group's visit to China.

"The fact that the delegates have come to China does not mean they have been converted to communism any more than the fact that I have visited nearly every Communist country makes me a 'fellow traveler,'" he said.

"But it is assured to ignore the existence of a nation of 600 million people which must play a great part in the world, whether for good or bad."

"We have come to meet the Chinese leaders and find out at first hand what is going on. We shall make up our minds on the basis of what we see and learn," Phillips said, adding that the delegation is responsible to the Labor Party and not to the press.

100 Millions Are Eligible to Vote

Washington, Aug. 24 (AP)—The Census Bureau, in a new estimate for the November elections, says that this year for the first time the nation will have over 100 million persons of voting age. This exclusive of 2 1/2 million voters in the armed forces.

This November, the bureau said, there will be approximately 100,223,000 civilian Americans old enough to vote as compared with 98,135,000 in November, 1952.

Not all civilians old enough to vote will be eligible to cast ballots, however.

Ineligibles include about 2 1/2 million aliens, and persons old enough to vote but who do not meet the state voting requirements. The Census Bureau did not estimate the total number of ineligible voters in the latter category.

Of the 98 million civilians old enough to vote in 1952, a record of 61 1/2 millions voted in the presidential election and 57 1/2 millions cast ballots for representatives in Congress.

THE CENSUS Bureau said that in the forthcoming election,

34 states would have more residents of voting age than in 1950 and 13 states fewer than in 1950. One state, Vermont, shows no significant change.

crease of 1.1 per cent since November, 1950.
